

EXTENSION OF THE CROP FARMERS POTATO IN NAGARI AIE BATUMBUK DISTRICT OF GUNUNG TALANG SOLOK REGENCY

Abstract

This study aimed to describe proses of implementation of agriculture extension potato plants in Nagari Aie Batumbuak, district of Gunung Talang Solok Regency. The Method used in this research is descriptive method of observation. The result showed that at the beginning of the process, compile extension agricultural extention program Nagari Aia Batumbuak based on the identification of potential areas. Extensions agents conduct a self-assessment for problem solving and the development of a model farm, feedback and potato production technology study. Further exstension implement in accordance with the agricultural extension program on village agricultural extension. The implementation of extension in the form of a group visit is not appropriate plan formulated, the realization of only 54.17 %. Increased visit extension to farmer groups are strongly advised to create synergy between farmers and extension workers in utilization of potato production technology.

Keywords: agricultural extension, production of potatoes, nagari aie batumbuak.

