AKNOWLEDGMENTS

I am humbled and grateful for everything God has done for me during my four years at Universitas Andalas, Padang. I want to give all glory and thanks to God for the countless blessings, guidance, and grace through the highs and lows of my academic journey. “I can do all things through Christ who strengthens me”
Philippians 4:14

I extend heartfelt gratitude to the individuals whose invaluable contributions were instrumental in the successful completion of this thesis:

1. Dr. Azwar, M.Si, as Dean of the Faculty of Social and Political Sciences.
2. Dr. Apriwan, S.Sos., M.A, as the Head of the Department of International Relations and as my first supervisor, who has made immensely significant contribution to the process of completing this thesis.
3. Putiviola Elian Nasir, S.S., M.A, the most amazing lecturer, my second supervisor, and a constant pillar of support throughout my academic journey from semester one until the completion of my thesis.
4. Haiyyu Darman Moenir, S.IP, M.Si, as the head of examination committee, provided inputs and suggestions to make the thesis well-composed.
5. Silvi Cory, S.Pd, M.Si and Maryam Jamilah, S.IP., M.Si, as my examiners during seminar proposal and thesis defense. I would like to express my gratitude for the input and suggestions provided, which have contributed to the successful completion of this thesis.
6. Rifki Dermawan, S.Hum, M.Sc, as my academic supervisors. I express my heartfelt gratitude for the assistance provided throughout my studies, from semester one until now, which has enabled me to successfully complete my study in this department.

7. The invaluable contributions of all lecturers and staff at the department of International Relations. Their dedication to imparting knowledge and fostering intellectual growth has left an indelible mark on author's academic and personal development.
8. My beloved family, whom I miss so much, especially my exceptional parents who has been my driving motivation during the five years I spent away from them. Thank you family for your unwavering support mentally, financially, and spiritually. Dear daddy and mommy, you were right, I am strong and smart -"I did it".
9. Randrianiaina Jaona Eddie, S.IP, holds a special place in my life as my best friend. Throughout our journey together, he has been a constant source of support, guidance, and camaraderie. His unwavering presence and willingness to lend a helping hand in every situation have been a blessing in my life. No matter the challenges I faced, I could always rely on him to be there, offering his time, expertise, and empathy without hesitation. Words cannot fully express the depth of my gratitude and love for you. So, to my dearest best friend, Eddie, I want to say: "I love you to the moon and back."
10. I am grateful for the wonderful experiences at the international office and the friendships formed with international students, especially Farah, the best junior; Nelson, my gym mate; and Carinah, who is the cutest. Each of them has made my time here truly memorable and special.

11. My friends in the Department of International Relations, Universitas Andalas.

12. Raihan Haniq, undoubtedly the most attractive man I've ever met. From the very first day of class, your incredible smile made me feel incredibly welcomed. I can't express how much I value everything you have done for me. Both inside and out, you are truly a remarkable and wonderful human being.

13. My church mate named Pretty at Seventh Day Adventist Church who has been helping me to get closer to God.

14. Last but not least, a huge thanks to me, myself and I. Congratulations to myself for successfully completing my thesis! This achievement is a testament to my dedication, hard work, and perseverance. I am proud of the effort and commitment I put into this project, overcoming challenges and pushing through to the end. It has been a challenging but rewarding journey, and I am grateful for the knowledge and skills I have gained along the way. This accomplishment marks a significant milestone in my academic and personal growth, and I look forward to the opportunities that lie ahead.

ABSTRACT

According to the United Nations, Madagascar is a low-income country with more than 1.3 million people facing severe hunger in 2021. The central causes of hunger in Madagascar are poverty, drought, and vulnerable effect of climate change. Despite the numerous efforts in the past, the situation has continued to deteriorate. As an international organization aims to eradicate hunger, the World Food Programme (WFP) is present in Madagascar to help fighting hunger through Madagascar Country Strategic Plan (2019-2024). This study aims to identify the World Food Programme's role in fighting hunger using the concept of roles of international organizations in policy transfer. This research is a qualitative research using secondary data such as policy paper, government paper, article journals, working paper and documents from WFP. The findings indicate that the WFP plays a significant role in intergovernmental-monitoring through support programmes to assist Madagascar, multilateral coordination by working with its partnership to facilitate diffusion of policy and learning, and global framing to analyse framing policy and solutions in the fight against hunger.
