

CHAPTER IV

CONCLUSIONS AND SUGGESTIONS

3.3 Conclusions

After analyzing five articles that related to the wedding of Jokowi's daughter the writer finds 34 data of spatial and temporal in those articles. There are 14 deixis included to spatial and 20 deixis included to temporal. The spatial consists of two sub categories. First, the proximal term is found into one deictic word. The use of proximal term in those five articles is represented by use of deictic word "This". There are two times the deictic words "This" which is used in those five articles. Second, the specific location is found into three deictic words. The use of specific location in those five articles is represented by use of deictic word "In front of, In, and On". The temporal deixis consists of two sub categories. Firstly, verb tense is divided into three points in the time at which the event occurred (past), the time at which the utterance produced (present) and the reference time (future). The present time is found into one deictic word. The past time is found into one deictic word. The reference time (future) is found into six deictic words. Secondly, the calendric notions are divided into three deictic words. The used of the calendric notions in those five articles is represented by use of deictic word "On November, On Tuesday, On Wednesday".

From this research, the writer concludes that the news writer or the journalist in creating a narration of those five articles more use of temporal deixis categories than the category of spatial deixis because the news writer or the journalist more emphasize to the temporal deixis than to the spatial deixis in these five articles that were found in the National News Column of Jakarta Post. The using of temporal deixis in those five articles is to convey the information of the specific time of the event that occurs in the content of the text.

3.4 Suggestions

The writer realizes that this research is still not enough to get more information about the spatial and temporal deixis. It is because there are still a lot of discussions that can be studied in spatial and temporal deixis field. For that reason the writer suggests to the reader or the next researcher, especially the student of English Department to continue the research about the spatial and temporal deixis analysis with a variety of media that more interesting like magazine, pamphlet, poster, banner, etc which can be used as object study in spatial and temporal deixis field.

