

CHAPTER IV

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

4.1 Conclusion

This research focuses on types of figurative language and its function in song lyrics of Disney's movie entitled "Mulan". After analyzing the data, this research finds that there are 17 figurative language which are occurred in Mulan's song. In this case, there are only five types of figurative language appear in the lyrics. They are nine similes, three hyperbole, three personifications, one metaphor, and one irony. The most type of figurative language that is used in Disney Mulan's song is simile. From this, it can be seen that the reason of Disney uses simile expression because this movie is intended for the children. Then, the most function of figurative language that is used in song lyrics of Disney's movie entitled "Mulan" is expressive function, it is used to express the speaker or writer feelings and attitudes.

I assumes that simile expression is more simply recognizable as the style of language that shows the comparison between two different things, with the help of connective words. This is probably because it is easier to be identified and understood by children. Therefore, children are not too difficult to find the meaning behind the simile expression. The connective words mostly appears in simile expression are like and as.

From the analysis, it can be concluded that figurative language has important roles in the movie. That is why the song writers used sentences that have figurative language in the movie. It makes the movie more interesting, easy to remember and gain more attention.

4.2 Suggestion

I realizes that this research is still not a perfect study. Some related studies can be extended in order to develop the study of figurative language. Therefore, I suggests to the next researcher to continue the research about the figurative language from another aspects.
