

CHAPTER IV

CONCLUSION

This reseach is about the lexico – grammatical features of the African – American Movie entitled The Wiz . The Wiz is a movie released in 1978 which tells about a woman named Dorothy who lost in a land called The Land Of Oz. The movie rarely got positive response from the viewers. However, the language style in this movie is interesting to be analyzed. The writer uses some theories by Leech and Short, Leech, and Green and Rickford in analyzing the dialogue in the movie.

After analyzing this movie, the writer finds 76 data of the lexico semantic features and 19 data of the grammatical features of AAVE. Among the lexico – semantic features, metaphor is the lexico – semantic feature that is most commonly used. There are 35 data of metaphor in The Wiz movie. There are 13 sentences with metonymy. Furthermore, there are 9 sentences that contain litotes in this movie. There are 8 sentences that contain irony. Synecdoche is found in as much as 6 sentences. The last feature that is found to be the most uncommonly used is hyperbole. There are 5 sentences with hyperbole in this movie. In the grammatical features of AAVE, the most commonly used feature is the negation which appears 11 times. Meanwhile, the existential it and dey is the lowest number of occurence that is only found twice. The use of auxiliary and verbal marker and also the use of bin and don are found three times for each.

Moreover, the writer finds some effects of the lexico–grammatical features in this movie. The features enhance the meaning of the movie. The lexico–semantic features have three effects for the movie. The first one is reinforcing the characterization. The next effect is explaining something in brief. Then, the stylistic features is also found to support emotional situation. The last effect is emphasizing certain arguments. This effect is found in the use of negation intensifier.

