CHAPTER IV

CONCLUSION

After analysing the data, the results show that four selected news articles have the different strategy to convey the meaning of the news article. By using news structure of Van Dijk, the appearance of news structure in those news articles are different one another. The elements of each structure are used differently in respect to the theme of ach news article. Those elements are the strategy of the news article to deliver its intended meaning and persuade the reader to believe in what it says towards the issue.

Accordingly, the first news article from Middle East refuses the decision by having six news structures along with its selected elements by proposing Arab and International condemnation towards Trump's decision of Jerusalem as its topic. Second, the news article from Israel agrees with Trump's decision by having six news structures with the theme the obvious step of Trump for recognizing Jerusalem as Israel's capital. Third, the news article from Palestine disagrees with Trump's decision by having five news structures with the theme the changing of US longstanding policy towards Jerusalem. Lastly, the news article representing Global (The New York Times) agrees with the decision by having six news structures with the theme the recognition of Jerusalem as Israel's capital and the plan of moving the US embassy from Tel Aviv to Jerusalem as the Act of Trump.
