Penyandang disabilitas sering mendapatkan perlakuan diskriminasi karena adanya stigma yang melekat sebagai makhluk yang lemah. Stigma ini menyebabkan penyandang disabilitas juga rentan mengalami tindak kekerasan seksual. Skripsi ini membahas pembingkai kasus kekerasan seksual terhadap penyandang disabilitas yang dipublikasikan oleh media online nasional Kompas.com melalui analisis framing Robert N. Entman. Penelitian ini juga bertujuan untuk melihat penerapan pedoman pemberitaan ramah disabilitas yang telah diatur oleh Dewan Pers. Penelitian ini menggunakan paradigma konstruksionis dengan pendekatan kualitatif. Hasil penelitian ini menunjukkan bahwa Kompas.com dalam membingkai kasus kekerasan seksual terhadap penyandang disabilitas fokus dalam tiga kategori, yaitu proses penangkapan pelaku oleh polisi, status pelaku, dan kondisi korban setelah terjadinya kekerasan seksual. Hasil penelitian juga menunjukkan bahwa terdapat beberapa kesalahan Kompas.com yang memuat berita yang tidak faktual. Dari hasil penelitian juga ditemukan bahwa terdapat sejumlah berita yang berpotensi menimbulkan stereotip dan stigma terhadap penyandang disabilitas.

People with disabilities are often treated with discrimination because of their inherent stigma as weak creatures. This stigma causes people with disabilities prone to get sexual violence. This thesis discusses the framing of sexual violence against people with disabilities published by the national online media Kompas.com through the framing analysis of Robert N. by Entman. The study also aims to look at the implementation of disability-friendly reporting guidelines that have been regulated by the Press Council. This research uses a constructionist paradigm with a qualitative approach. The results of this research showed that Kompas.com in framing cases of sexual violence against persons with disabilities focuses in three categories, which are the process of arrest of perpetrators by the police, the status of the perpetrator, and the condition of the victim after the occurrence of sexual violence. The results of the research also showed that there were some mistakes in Kompas.com that loaded inaccurate news. The results of the investigation also found that there were some news of sexual violence against disabilities published by Kompas.com are potentially creating stereotype and stigma towards disabilities.
