ABSTRACT

This study aims to examine the factors that influence financial performance of companies. This research was conducted using the multiple linear regression testing method involving 29 consumer goods industry companies listed on the Indonesia Stock Exchange (IDX) in the 2018-2022 period. The data used is secondary data. The secondary data on this research is obtained from official data published by the IDX and the company's official website for financial statements with the period year in 2018-2022. The dependent variable in this study is financial performance as measured using the ROA (Return on Assets) ratio. The independent variable in this study is corporate waste disclosure. The control variable used in this study is firm size. The results of this research indicate that corporate waste disclosure has no significant effect on financial performance.
