

CHAPTER IV

CONCLUSION

4.1 Conclusion

This chapter consist conclusions of the common results of this study. Based on what was discussed in the previous chapter, it can be concluded that the researcher found four language style there are: Formal, Consultative, Casual, and Intimate. The most dominant styles are casual style 25 data (60,97%), Consultative style 6 data (14,28%) Intimate style 10 data (24,49%). Formal style 0 data and frozen style is 0 data (0%). Casual style is a style that we use when assembling with friends, family, and acquaintances. In the movie, Don, Reenie, Sarah, and Sarah's child have a family. The relationship between language and society can be seen in the relationship between certain forms of language, which is called the style of language. The findings implied that the prevalence of language style illustrated the nature of social relationships and contexts among the characters, while social factors were found, such as social status, age, family relationships, and intimacy, which strongly shaped the choice of language styles in their communication.

4.2 Suggestion and Recommendation

Researcher suggest that other researchers who will be researching the movie should discuss the style of the recitation because researcher found that a lot of politeness words can be discussed. Also, this movie is really good because the pronunciation is complicated there are no confusing words.
