

CHAPTER IV

CONCLUSION

Overall, literature help and guide the student to increase literacy performances, furthermore literature guide the student not only produce a word or a sentence but help the student to choose the appropriate word to us and also an appropriate to author to write that bring the meaning that relate with education. In case, education is divided not only formal but also informal education. First, formal education such as how someone tries to get proper knowledge. Nowadays, many people try to reach the highest position in their life by having a good education and reaching their dreams in order to get a decent life. This education such as black people can write diary, achieve her dream to school in America. Second, informal education like how they are gets the best knowledge from the norms, attitude, skill, and love in their family. It can give our best to learn about ethics to get good manner, characters, and value; how to understand and how to manage ourselves if we meet with someone else. It is also supported by an environment that is very close to us, named the family. It has the important role as the main foundation for family's members to get love and affection. Family is like a home. This place is where the true love grows and develops. If the home is good, family will also be good behavior or vice versa. This relates to how the role of parents teaches their children to get good characters. Manner is very important. This is really important as the main key in social life as human beings.

Thus, I limit the characters that give the big impacts as black people in informal education. First, Shug Avery, who makes Celie becomes a woman who more concerned about how important she is. Celie becomes a more open-minded woman. Shug Avery also gives her a lot of knowledge about love, confidence, skill, and how to be calm as a woman. Second, Celie, when she has no skill, she can sew to make her can survive. Third, the attitudes and norms when her stepfather teaches Celie try to look boy in the church. Meanwhile, this is very different from what her stepfather has done to his children. He makes his character become bad. This is also give bad impact to Harpo as his children. As described in Celie's life as part of black people at The Color Purple. Celie's life is full of sadness starting from her behavior in nuclear family and in her society, such as the act of her husband, the act of her girlfriend (Shug Avery) who is her stepfather's new wife. Which adversely affects Celie is represented as black people who are fooled her by her stepfather who also has unknowledgeable about informal education. It makes the effects of Celie's personality as children who should get love. Inversely, it cannot be separated from the support of the life of the environment and society which also supports them in instilling the importance of education which is not only formal education but also informal education that they must be obtains.

As a result, they get a better life. In addition, the lack of informal education has negative effects on Celie's life. As represented as a black child who does not get her rights as a child. Every child must be loved, pampered, and things related to family care and have a good environment. This is certainly supported by the situation of families and communities who still view education as not important especially in informal education. In general, informal education is one of the educations that must be able to give in the family and this cannot be considered trivial. Then, this informal education cannot be separated from family's members to make the characters.
